

Maarten van Andel studied chemistry, and worked 32 years in the international high-tech industry. There he led an integral sustainability program, and acquired a lot of experience in energy and CO<sub>2</sub> reduction. In 2018 and 2020 he wrote two books on sustainable energy, (in Dutch) De Groene Illusie and De Groene Kans. He publishes a weekly newsletter and LinkedIn post, and gives regular presentations on sustainability. He is presently director of Fontys University of Applied Natural Sciences in Eindhoven, The Netherlands.
