

Patrick Naulleau received B.S. and M.S. degrees in electrical engineering from Rochester Institute of Technology, Rochester, NY and Ph.D. in electrical engineering from University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Following graduate school, Dr. Naulleau joined Berkeley Lab on the EUV LLC program building the world's first EUV scanner. April 2010 Dr. Naulleau became Director of the Center for X-ray Optics at Berkeley Lab. Dr. Naulleau has over 350 publications and 19 Patents and is a Fellow of OSA and SPIE.